Another season kicks off with the September equinox this month. The equinox is a reminder of the passage of time, which seems to get faster and faster as we get older.

The sign of Libra is all about balance and equality, symbolised by the scales of justice. Day and night hours are in equal balance and depending on which hemisphere you live, these hours of light and dark will increase or decrease as we head towards the December solstice.

Before the Sun arrives at 0 degrees Libra, it travels through Virgo, a sign that symbolises the time of the harvest in the northern hemisphere. This is the time of the flowering of spring in the southern realm. Virgo has a strong symbolic connection with the Earth and its flora and fauna and being a mutable sign, it's a time of seasonal change.

Ceres has powerful ties to Virgo too. The dwarf planet will station and turn direct this month, urging us to become more mindful of the natural environment.

VIRGO NEW MOON

This Virgo New Moon delivers a couple of notable stations.

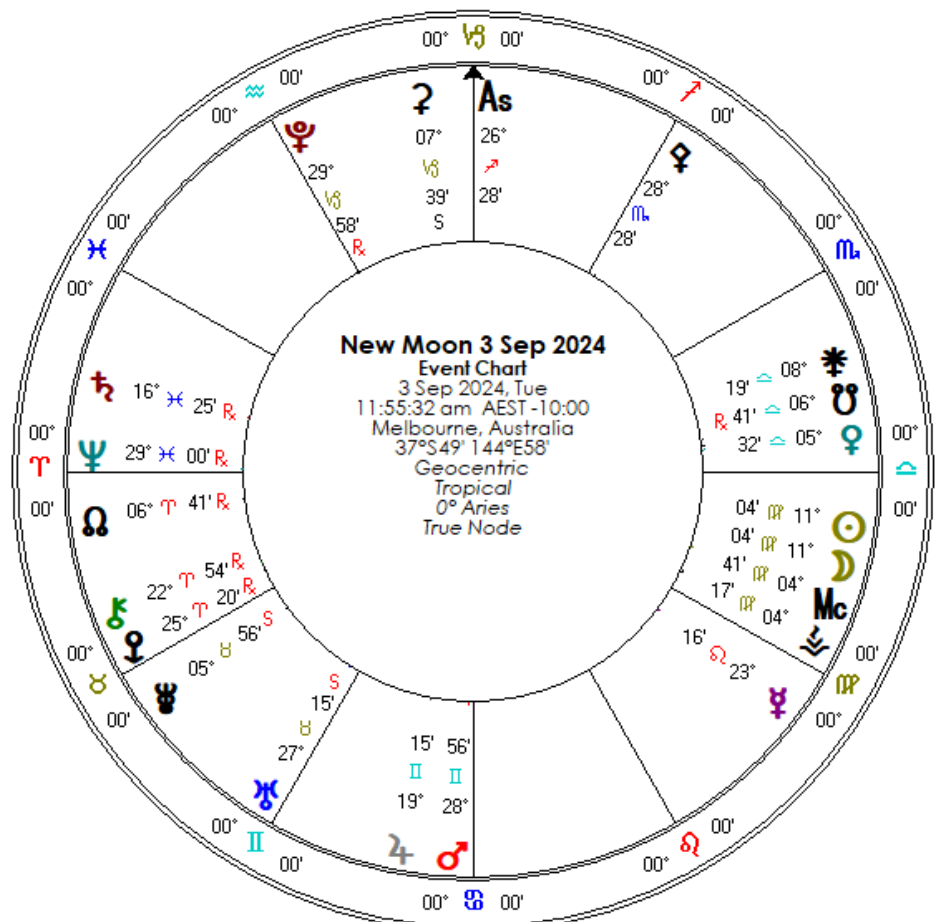

Ceres stations direct a few days before this New Moon, highlighting environmental matters and coinciding with weather extremes which are often seen at this time of the year.

Uranus stations direct the day before this New Moon, introducing a radical, unpredictable element. New things come to light at New Moons, so insights and fresh ideas can be initiated.

Mars and Neptune square off, delivering some nebulous qualities to the energy of this New Moon, which meticulous Virgo will want to clarify and sort out.

Virgo is the most efficient sign of the zodiac, and it does not like to waste anything, including time.

The South Node and Venus are close to Juno, so longstanding personal relationships are in focus. The South Node represents innate talents and skills that are second nature, so in Libra and with Juno involved, it's telling us to be loyal and honour those who are closest to our heart and values.

This 32-page astrology calendar is suitable for those who are new to astrology, students of astrology and the professional astrologer.

It includes an introductory section on astrology basics that explains the meaning of planets and signs. An easy reference guide, it examines prevailing astrological conditions and suggests ways to take advantage of opportunities as they arise. For professional astrologers this calendar replaces the need to constantly refer to your ephemeris. It provides easy access to relevant astrological data for general daily use. It also includes planetary information that is not found in ephemerides, such as lunar perigees, Supermoons, key positions of Venus and more.

This book details my research into the 32-year cycle of Venus and Mars.

The symbolic connection between the celestial lovers is mirrored by their interaction as metals copper (Venus) and iron (Mars). This passionate exchange creates life on this planet and has immense impact across social settings and generations.

US ELECTION SIBLY CHART

Last month we looked at the charts for Kamala Harris and Trump. Now we turn our attention to the Sibly chart for the US. This is the most often used chart for US Independence.

ter itself is a powerful focus in the chart of the US as it rules the Ascendant and it's close to the Sun and Venus. Jupiter is a freedom loving planet. In hitting Mars on election day, it suggests that motif will be in the minds of the voting public.

that Chiron symbolises both wounding and also healing, so this too will be a key focus in the minds of voters.

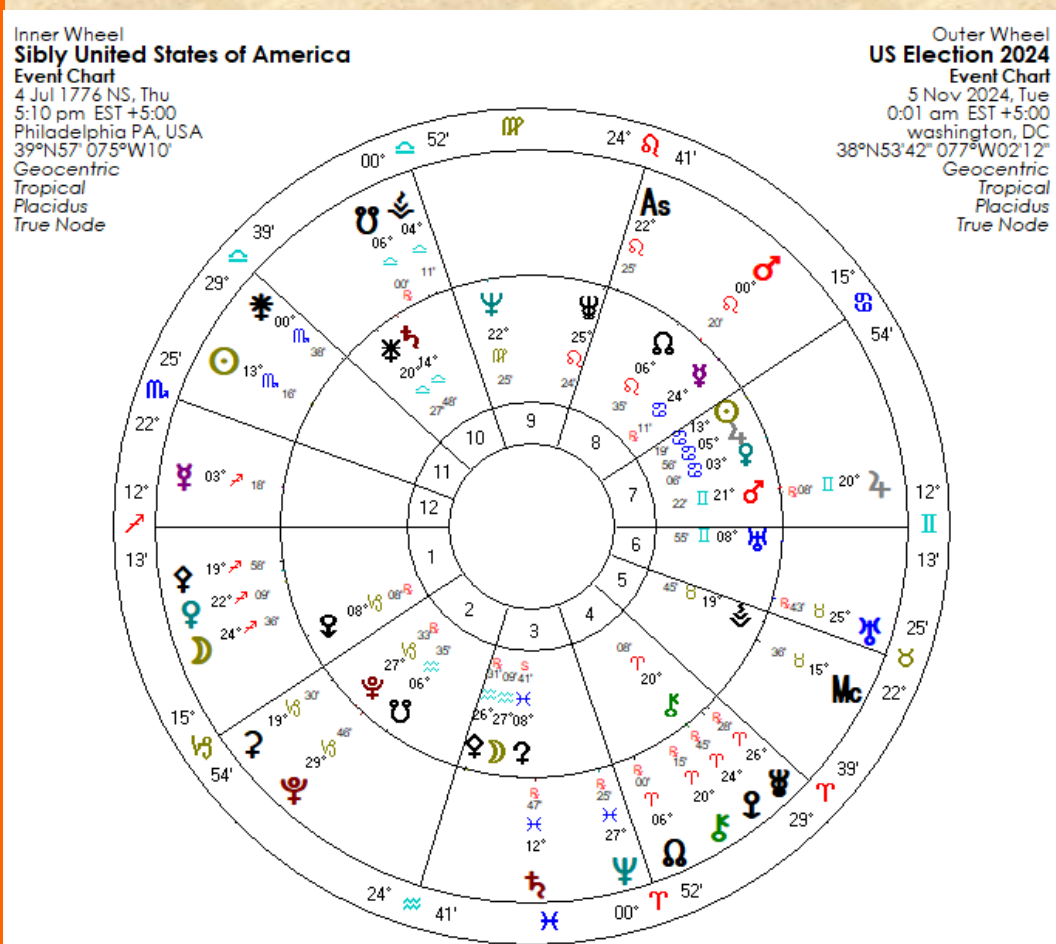

There is a Mars-Pluto opposition on election day, highlighting the political divisions in play and the combative nature of events. But there is also a Moon-Venus conjunction which opposes the US Mars. The Venus-Mars opposition is a passionate aspect which possesses a huge amount of energy and magnetism. The Moon starts the day close to Venus, and will oppose Venus and Jupiter over the course of the voting process. There are many time zones across the US,

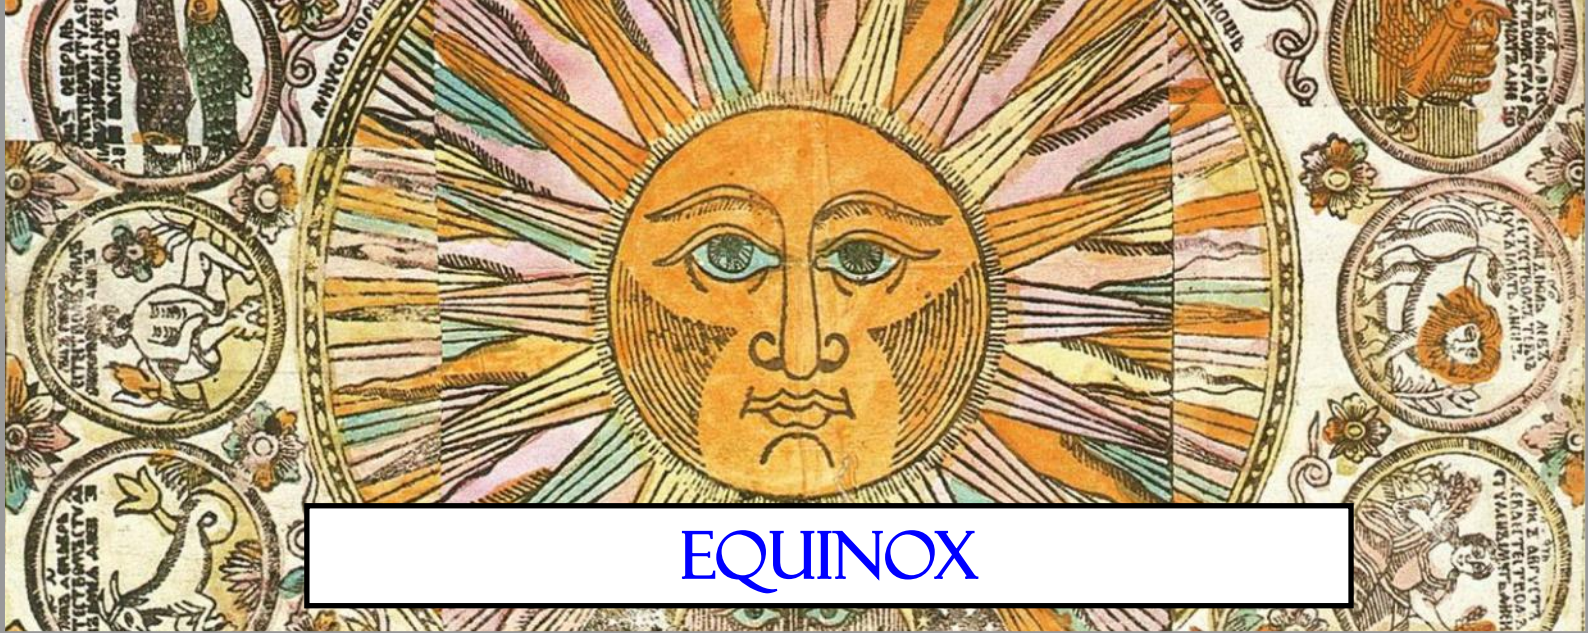

One of the key transits is the US Chiron Return. This is exact on election day. We know

There are other notable transits, but these few reveal there is a painful, passionate and intense energy around the election process, very much in keeping with the divisions evident across the US.

Next month we'll look at the impact of the October eclipse on the US Sibly chart, but whatever happens, it seems like the wild ride is ongoing.

On election day, (I have used 0.01am Washington DC) transiting Jupiter is crossing Mars. Jupi-

EQUINOX

Equinox and solstice charts reveal the symbols and energy in play across the season ahead. The alignment of the Sun and Earth at these key moments tells us something about the three months ahead.

Libra is all about balance and equality so this equinox describes how we can work towards creating fairness and justice. A key focus of Libra is relationships, and how to achieve fairness and equality between people, and across society as a whole.

This time around, Neptune is making its presence felt, as it will do at coming equinoxes and solstices for at least 18 months.

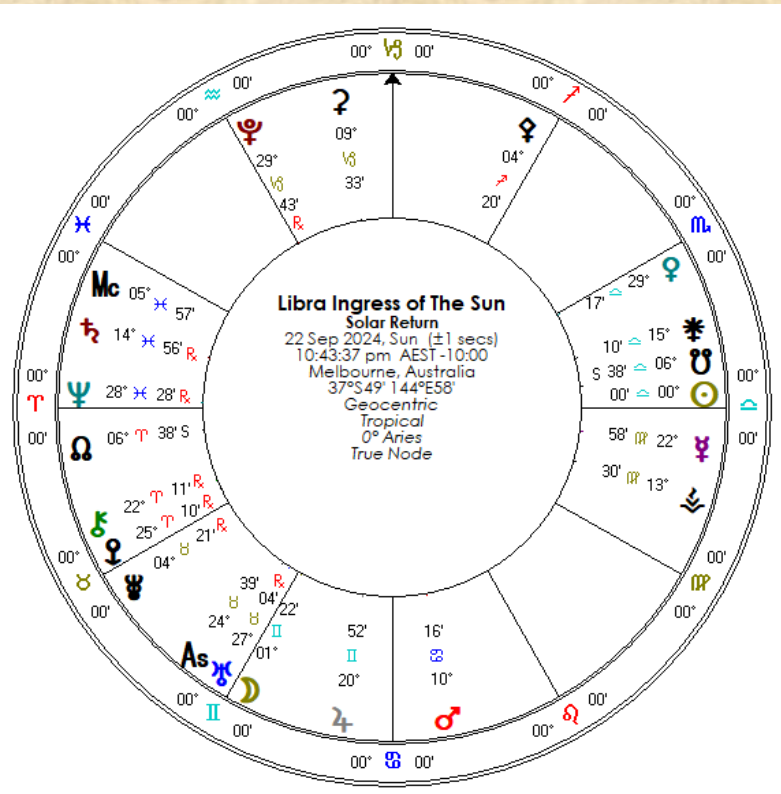

We all know how mysterious and confusing Neptune can be. It's often difficult to make sense of Neptune's strange agenda. Help is offered by the Moon which is in an insightful trine with the Sun and a harmonious sextile with Neptune. The Moon attunes us to feelings, and in air sign Gemini, helps us make sense of our feelings and communicate them effectively.

At each equinox and solstice its useful to consider the position of the Sun's ruling planet. In this case, it's Venus, which sits in a very tight square with Pluto. This is a difficult aspect for relationships, whether they are personal, business, community connections or political associations. There is a great deal of tension in this aspect, and both planets sit at the 29 degree mark, foreshadowing imminent change. Connections which are no longer viable where differing values and priorities have been undermining these relationships, may come to an end over the coming season. This aspect could potentially impact the coming US election, where affiliations and financial support are often critical.

The South Node in Libra, close to the Sun, tells us that eclipse season is upon us. Eclipses always provide an opportunity for a fresh perspective.
